If it should ever be your lot, walking in the streets of Washington, to see an idiotic-faced old man of a singular parchiment ugliness, wearing a Quaker-brimmed hat of fels or straw, his mouth ajar, his eyes vacant, winkles like a withered apple extending across his face transversely, his sandy hairs frost-smitten—a being altogether to whose physiognomy that of florace Greeley is the bright and morning star—conclude the portrait of the stranger by writing heneath it Frank P. Blair. Corresponitence Chicago Tribune

This old man, very nearly as ugly as now, was brought to this city from Kentucky by order of Andrew Jackson, who liked the sheet lightning way in which he lit upon his political enemies. He was received by the whole Cabinct at dinner, who looked at him and experienced poignant disappointment. Jackson set him at his left hand, opposite the sauve Van Buren, and he monnched through his dianer in a speechless, verdant way, translixed with the wild egotisms of old Andrew, and from that hour his willing worshipper and eulogist.

When he got away from good society and lifted his quill, it was seen, however, as Mr. Mckson remarked, that he was not "smooch." What Jackson could swear, Illair could oarb and fire straight to the mark, and for all that administration Illair was the daily and confidential literary Secretary of the President. He carried his proofs to the White House every noon and read them to Old Hickory, who wiped out and swore in sentences with a savage gluttory for adjectives and a manifest repulsion for elegancies; but on the head of Elair and his partner, lives, Jackson poured moneys and benefits, till the one died rich a little while sgo, with one fortune here, and, it is said, a hundred thousand gold dollars besides in the Bank of England, while the other, past threeacore and-ten, lives on in the neighborhood of this city, and finds one of his boys a candidate for the office of Calhoun.

WHAT IS THE DIFFERENCE.

And men who would have abandoned the radical faction and come over tons, upon the single and sole question of negro suffrage, say and have they not the right to say) that if that question is no longer in issue, if the Hemocratic party accepts negro suffrage and guarantees its perpetuity, they see but little difference, tor them, between radicalism and Democracy, because, in all other points, they agree with the former, and do not abandon its creed. Have not the radical journals, if we accept negro suffrage, and admit the fitness of the negro to vote, the right to say that the reconstruction measures are not a failure, but successful beyond measure, and successful because they are just and wise? If the negro is fit to vote, he is entitled to vote, and if entitled to vote, it was a great wrong to deny him that right.

From Washington to Cestral City, from Omaha to Galena and Quirty, the reports are all one. The most modest soldier that ever led armies to victory cannot travel so quietly as to escape the homage of the people who want to see the man who has once rescued the nation from ruin, and whe is to he put where he can preserve its integrity.

Say, rather, who is to be put, if the peoas to increase the exports beyond the imports, and thus keep the gold from going

It is also stated that an armed rebellion—the beginning of the threatened civil war—has broken out in Conway, Perry, and Columbia counties, that the couris have been closed by armed men; that the Union men had been engaged in battle by the rebels, and beaten; and that the Governor of the State, with a small force of soldiers, has started for the scene of the disturbances, to put down the insurrection. If these reports prove to be well founded, the Blair revolutionary scheme is already in operation, and there is no predicting how far the bloody struggle will extend, or how many communities it will involve in ruin. We hope, therefore, that the reports are exaggerated.

You poor, miserable thing! You pre-stinctively feel the utter falseness of this dithyrambic tide? It is self-exposed. The Tribune flourishes to keep its hope up. You poor, miserable thing! You pre tend to hope that your reports are exagger ations. They are not exaggerations; they are downright and utter fabrications. There is not one word of truth in anything that you state. Nothing bearing the slightest resemblance to what you speal that you mention. The Democracy that State are abundantly satisfied if they are not molested. They offer no molesta ion. York Round Table:

The remarkable appears to increase from day to day. Whether it is that the people instinctively realize the impropriety in a republic of placing a military man as chief ruler over territory hypothetically free, hut which his sword has just subdued, or that the Commander-in-Chief a personal characteristics beget a constantly augmenting dislike, it is certainly true that for no military man ever presented as a candidate for the Presidency in this country has there been so little genuine enthusiasm. The weakness of some parts of the Democratic platform and the ridiculous indiscretions of some Democratic apeech-makers are perhaps more than counterbalanced in noxious edicacy by General Grant's utter want of magnetism and the mistrust or dislike with which he is regarded by the people.

The Round Tables fing at "some parts of the Democratic platform" and ly excited by the reports that the Pres-ident is determined to suppress the des-potic measures of Governor Browrlow, of Tennessee, and Governor Warmoth, Lonisiana. We believe that the reports are true. If they are not, they ought to be. If the President fails to exercise in the present condition of things the power given him by the Constitution, he is the parts of the Democratic platform" and

The Editor of the Philadelphia Press says that the rejection of Grant as a candidate for the Presidency "would prove or illustrate the jugratitude of Re-publics." Would a Republic show its inable extent under the popular control soon, unless we act with the wisdom, the determination, and the energy gratitude by the rejection of a man who would change it to a despotism. We wish not to be understood as saying that the financial condition of the counor admitting that this country is now We have but one present duty in redepublic. It is already a despotism, but gard to this matter, and that is a per-fectly plain one. The party in power has accumulated the most preposterous and shocking debt ever heard of among men, we go against those who would make it a despotism in form and in name as well as in fact. Perhaps form and name may be worth something to ns. We trust that they and our first duty, our paramount duty, is may be worth a great deal.

to turn the party in power out of power. This must be the first step towards relief, for without it, there can be no relief or approach to relief.

The radical organs and their speakers and candidates may invent and utter as many excuses and falsehoods and tweentions and explanations of the mighty debt.

But suppose all responsible Democrati n Georgia would rather pay twice as much for keeping your paper out of their houses as for letting it in What then is your challenge or your dare worth to them?

The Editor of the Cincinnati Ga zette says, with his accustomed generos American people as to the comparative statesmanship of Seymour and Grant. But suppose he should change his mind and refuse to abide it. What a terrible state of affairs that would produce. Who doesn't tremble to think of it.

The negroes and carpet haggers (we name them in the order of their merit) of all the Southern Legislatures don't pay taxes to the amount of a thnusand dollars a year. They are miserable subsisters upon the people they miserably oppress.

The radicals talk about the p scription of negro laborers by the land proprietors of the South. Any planter who supports a negro upon his plantation who is for disfranchising him, deserves to be disfranchised and every other evil that can be inflicted on him.

It appears from the despatches that decretary McCulloch declares himself un-quivocally for Seymour and Blair. He rather better than we thought he was But we wish he were considerably hetter minds of men whose hearts have treason linited into them.

REGISTRATION.

I have a few words to say with reference to the comity egistration. The removerance to the comity registration. The removerance to the laws enacted by the Congress of the United States, or by the State Legislature. We can succeed it no other way than by maintaining and uphoiding those laws, however ohnoxious and unjust they may appear to us, and however wrong they may be. Let not violent counsels prevail among you, for by such means our efforts to redeem the State may be defeated. I do not mean that a man shall submit to personal tannts and insults, which a regire personal redress. I do not preach to you the mildness of Quakers, but first be certain you are right before you resort to anything in violation of the laws of the land. I say to you, fellow-citizens, do not be deterred by the threats of these radicals to prevent you foom registering. I very man in the country, to take it and be registered. Do you do not register. You must perform your dinty, and your candidates for office will perform theirs. If you should be rejected after having taken the oath of loyalty, your duty is not performed. You must present yourselves at the principal of the law of the law of the laws of the land. I say to you, fellow-citizens, do not be deterred by the threat of these radicals to prevent you do not register. You must perform your desire radical marvie any longer? Do you wish to perpetuate It? You will bring about snet a result If you do not register. You must perform your dinty, and your candidates for office will perform theirs. If you should be rejected after having taken the oath of loyalty, your duty is not performed. You must present yourselves at the proper places with your ticket, and demand that the judges of election shall receive your yote. The registrara are not the final arbitrators of this question. Suppose a contest exists with reference to your county officers, the Judges of the Circuit Court decides the question at large the proper de the junges of election shall receive your wote. The registran are not the final arbitrators of this question. Suppose a context exists with reference to your county officers, the Judges of the Circuit Court decides the question at lasue. If a registrar rejects a man unjustly, it is the right of the Judge of the Circuit Court to declare that the man is a competent and quanified voter, and ought to have been on the list of qualified voters. I say to you, then, do not be deterred by the rejection of your vote. Take the path of loyalty and go to the polls and deposit your vote, and do not follow the advice of those men who counsel you to take a pistol and shoot down the registrar who refuses to register you. Have no controversy with them. You are there in the performance of a dnty; so are they. Let no taunts or absert bring you to the commission of a breach of the peace while they are in the discharge of their duties. (Cheers.)

THE STATE CONSTITUTION.

I wish to appeak to you upon other isanes of this canvasa. The radical party, in 1965, declared the constitution under which we were living was not fit for the atate of affairs then existing. They said it was the tims to adopt a new constitution for our State, and, in pursuance of an act of the Legislature, delegates were elected to rame a new constitution. We thought it was not a proper time for such a measure. The people were inflamed and excited, and would not frame an instrument enitable to the condition of our State. Our predictions proved trus. We are living under a constitution which ought not to be adopted. The people, by a unajority of their votes—so said the radical party—adopted it. You have a candidate for an office, one Rodman, who reduced to submit to any person in the State, except the Governor, the returns made from the different counties in relation to the adoption of the new constitutions. The Governor of tha State proclaimed it was adopted by a very small. tion. The Governor of the State pro-ned it was adopted by a very small

A POTE OF WARNING.

So, fellow-citizens, beware to what you may be led hy your leaders. Have no rear of the results. The election of Seymonr and Blair will restore peacs and quiet to the country, unless these men feel disposed to involve their country in another civil war. If they do so, they will be the traitors. The curses of the people will be npon the heads of tha leaders. I know they can sometimes lead an honest man. WOMAN'S WRONOS—OUTRAGE.

The association next resolved lisely into a committee of the whole for the discussion of a special case, in which it was stated a member of the sex (whether of the organization or not did not appear to the reporter) had met with what reemed to be unjust endoutrageous treatment from a member of the opposite nex. The circumstances as detailed were to the effect that a Miss Dickey, being engaged to a certain man in the city, walking out with him wase basely outraged and deserted by him. The matter was piaced in the hands of Mr. George G. Yester, ay a Tribune reporter called inpon the General at the Astor House, and was courteously received. General Rosecrans is a medium a zed, rather stonly built, unan of forty years or thereshouts, with a large head, a very pleasant face, bearing well in front a large Romannose, a moderately high narrow torehead, and short brown heir. He was dressed in a suit of blue flannel. Ha might be easily taken for a navigator, the slight disagreement between the legs from the knee to the ankle isyoring lie mistake. Few people would put him down for the commander of an army. From the beginning of the conversation with General Rosecrans he strictly kept to the diplomatic style of meaning as little as poesible in excything that he said.

Speaking of the manifesto said to have been signed by the rebel leaders to submit to the Southern people, the General deuled the existence of the document, and said that a great deal had bean incorrectly stated concerning hie connection with the Sulphur Springs mission.

Is not the faith of the nation pledged there? Will you repudiate that promise? Do you believe it right to do so? The policy of the radical party is to burden you with an increased debt and taxation. You cannot escape the dilemma. It is so plain that every one can see and understand it. Are you not taxed sufficiently and oppressively now? The government proclaimed to the citizens of Missooni, Virginia, Kentucky, West Virgiula, Maryland, and Delaware for every alave they put in the service of the United States they abould receive a compansation of three hundred dollars. Commissioners, in pursuance of an act of Congresa, were sent into those States to inquire into and rejort upon those claims. Gen. Rosecrans—Thet I don't clearly see. I can't say. It would be a good thing if the Southern leaders could be got to work together beneisently. It is they who a cohiefly interested in the duty of restoring prosperity.

Reporter—They don't eeem inclined to work under the reconstruction ects now. Gen. Rosecrans—No. Events don't seem to point that wey. Tha unprosperons condition of the country is due to the instability of political parties. The people have lost confidence. Old questions that caused the war should never have been brought up again for discussion. After the settlement of a quarrel recrimination should be avoided. The good clase of Southernes will educate and train the negroes. It is the poor class of Southern whites who are brought into direct entsgoniem with the negroes. Now, tha utmost care should be used to keep down the pessions of the people. A war of races may be easily brought about, and this would be far more terrible than an organized war.
